

WEEK OF THE YOUNG CHILD – The Week of the Young Child™ is an annual celebration sponsored by the National Association for the Education of Young Children (NAEYC), the world's largest early childhood education association. The dates this year were April 12-18, and in honor of that event, the Garrett County Board of Education made a formal proclamation during its regular board meeting last week. The purpose of the designation is to focus public attention on the needs of young children and their families, and to recognize the early childhood programs and services that meet those needs, a spokesperson said. Pictured are Charlotte Sebold, education board member, and Stephen Knepp, Judy Center education coordinator.