

GRANDPARENTS TREATED TO LUNCH - Kitzmiller Head Start held its annual Grandparents Day luncheon on Sept. 12. Thirty grandparents were served spaghetti, salads, and desserts. "The Kitzmiller Head Start teachers have enjoyed hosting this event for several years as a way of starting out the new school year by getting families involved with each other and the Head Start," said a spokesperson. "Mr. Mark and Ms Cookie welcome the parent and grandparent volunteers to help in the classroom and with activities and field trips throughout the school year." The class is currently collecting soda can tabs and ink cartridges for Ronald McDonald House Charities. Every year more than 1,200 families, including some in Garrett County, stay at the Ronald McDonald House in Morgantown, W.Va., while their children are receiving life-saving medical care at West Virginia University Hospitals. Last year, Kitzmiller Head Start donated more than 30 gallons of tabs to the Ronald McDonald House. Pictured below, from left with the tabs are Peyton Tichinel, Mariah Wade, Ryleigh Sines, and Harper Upton. In the back are Gunner Armstrong, Levi Sharpless, Amelia Sweltzer, and Gabi Jackson. Garrett County Community Action is currently accepting applications for 3- and 4-year-old children for the Kitzmiller Head Start program. Parents are invited to contact Judy Fike, family development coordinator, at 301-334-9431, ext. 6129, to enroll their children or obtain more information. Kitzmiller Head Start can be contacted at 301-453-3595.
