

Gregan Crawford chosen for Leadership Maryland program

FOR THE WEEKENDER

OAKLAND — Gregan Crawford, vice president of strategic initiatives for the Garrett County Community Action Committee, has been chosen to participate in Leadership Maryland. The professional development program is dedicated to building a better Maryland by harnessing the strength of its local business and community leaders. Crawford is one of 52 individuals chosen for Leadership Maryland's 25th class — the class of 2017, who will complete the eight-month, hands-on learning program focused on the state's most vital social, economic and environmental issues.

Following a two-day opening retreat in April, the class will attend five two-day intense sessions traversing the state focusing on Maryland's economic development, education, health and human services, criminal justice, the environment and multiculturalism/diversity. These sessions will be followed by a one-day closing retreat in November and a graduation celebration in December. More than 100 experts representing business, government, education, and the nonprofit community will serve as panelists and guest speakers.

Leadership Maryland is open to senior-level executives with significant achievements in either their careers and/or their communities. Ideal Leadership Maryland members have a desire to learn more about Maryland's most critical issues and a personal commitment to be a force for positive change in their organizations, their communities and their state.
